HUNTINGTON, Ind. (WANE) - A Huntington teen accomplished something not many people do. Jonathon Yarde, 17, lives with his family in rural Huntington County. He's been a Boy Scout for most of his life.

A few years ago he became an Eagle Scout by earning 21 merit badges.

But, he didn't stop there. Now, Yarde's earned all 121 merit badge Boy Scouts can collect.

Yarde said one of his favorite badges to earn was the water sport badge. His least favorite was the medicine badge because it involved a lot of paperwork.

He plans to go to Purdue University after he graduates to study business and management.
